

HOW TO BE A COLLABORATOR WITH OUR FINANCIAL ECOSYSTEM AND WIN?

We want to give everyone the opportunity to grow and improve with us, while helping us build a fully decentralized world. That is why we have created a system to reward all our collaborators, so that each collaborator can contribute to the extent of their collaboration and contribution capacity, because if we want to decentralize the world that surrounds us, all the support we receive is of the utmost importance.

We know that everyone can collaborate in a different way, but we all want the same thing, to create a world in which we can live with decentralized solutions and stop depending on banks, governments, decentralizing the world around us. By decentralizing the world you help others to live better. Your family will live better, your friends will live better, you will have a fuller and happier life, because we will stop the abuse and free ourselves from the weight of centralization.

To make the collaboration process easier and include everyone who wants to participate, we have divided the collaboration packages into 2 types:

Direct collaboration packages.

These collaboration packages are intended for all those people who manage large groups of people, such as influencers, youtubers, large WhatsApp groups, Telegram and other similar groups and who wish to collaborate in the dissemination of our decentralized financial system. We also deliver these collaboration packages to the people who work with us, such as programmers, graphic designers, journalists and all those people who contribute positively to the dissemination or creation of our system, helping us to grow at any stage of our development.

Direct collaboration packages are divided into 3 types:

- Packages for type A collaborators.
- Packages for type B collaborators.
- Packages for type C collaborators.

The way to determine what type of collaborator will have which collaboration package is determined only by the type of collaboration, the magnitude and duration of the collaboration. A collaborator who develops a single task, for a short time, will receive a collaboration package type C. If the task lasts longer, he could receive a collaboration package type B. If his collaboration and contributions are permanent, he could receive a collaboration package type A.

As can be seen, the collaboration packages scale in profits according to the contribution that each collaborator is capable of delivering and how important their contribution is to our ecosystem and to the decentralization of the centralized world. It is important to note that depending on your contribution and time, each collaborator can receive an indefinite number of collaboration packages, of different types, while continuing to collaborate with our ecosystem and our growth. We invite you to see what you can win with each of the collaboration packages.

Indirect collaboration packages.

We believe that if you have already obtained one of our NFTs and you are earning money with it, by selling and spreading it, or you are active on our social networks, you participate in our activities, you help us grow by spreading our ecosystem on social networks, you are already collaborating.

Any kind of help to grow is very good for us. That is why we also have collaboration packages for you, that you are contributing just by being part of our ranks. Although the way of distribution of these packages will be different. Instead of delivering the collaboration packages directly, because there will be many more of this class of collaborators, we are going to raffle them on social networks, so you can receive NFTs, our cryptocurrency, access to our metaverse, among many other gifts, in a free way. Free just for being part of our army of collaborators.

Also another way that we have to reward your loyalty and collaboration is through the issuance of free NFTs that you can collect, to be part of our financial ecosystem and create your own NFT 2.0. So you must pay attention to be among the first to obtain them. Because you will have a lot of competition.
